2. An examination of [REDACTED] revealed that the 50 nm of rail line west of Bratsk that had never been negated for missile activity, due to lack of suitable coverage, was observed on good quality photography. There are no suspect missile installations located along this stretch of rail line as of [REDACTED]. The candelabra rail spur area located at 56-08N 101-15E and mentioned in the above cited memorandum was observed and found to be industrial in nature. The good roads extending to the north of this industrial installation all connect with logging operations. The remaining portions of this search area were negated as of [REDACTED] and cloud cover on subsequent missions precludes a later negation.
